

Music, Masks, Myths and Merriment: A Magical Theater Experience

March 7, 2024

2:30pm

Women's Forum of Litchfield
@ Litchfield Historical Society
7 South Street
Litchfield, CT 06759

All ages

$10 for non-members

This participatory theater workshop will engage participants in a sampling of simple theater games, songs and creative movement. Elias, with her Native American drum and flute will get everyone up on their feet and having fun! Together, we'll celebrate together the power of words, sounds, voices and our never ending imaginations!

Leslie Elias, artistic director of Grumbling Gryphons, an award-winning educational children's theater, is a playwright, actress, storyteller and theater director who has been teaching drama in schools and public venues for 46 years. She is the 2023 recipient of the Connecticut Artist Fellowship Award and the 2018 Connecticut Arts Hero Award.
